

1. Place the wall-mounted backboard at a suitable position on the wall, mark the holes to be installed on the wall and the backboard with a marker, and then drill holes on the wall with an electric drill.

(Drill to a depth of 60mm using a 6mm diameter drill bit) ensure that the two boards are aligned properly.

The distance between the two boards should be around 20 cm.

2. After the drilling is completed, insert the expansion plug into the wall hole, place the wall-mounted backboard, and insert the self-tapping screw into the position where the wall hole connects to the backboard hole. Tighten the screw with a screwdriver.
